

JAPS TRY TO LAND TROOPS TO INVEST PORT ARTHUR BUT THEIR EFFORT FAILS.

Hard Fought Battle in Which Casualties Were Many.

Japanese Conducting Cam- paign With Courage.

A State of War Is Proclaimed Now by the Mikado.

King Edward Signs Declaration of Neutrality— Alexieff in Full Russian Command—Japs at Tokio Rejoice—Chinese Forces Move— Another Russian Steamer Captured by Enemy.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Japan is conducting her campaign against Port Arthur with indomitable courage and uninterrupted vigor. Word reached here this morning that the Japanese had yesterday made a hard but unsuccessful attempt to land troops back of the city. Their object was to cut off the Russian line of communication and invest Port Arthur by land and sea. The attempt was conducted along well planned lines and did not prove a failure until after a hard battle had been fought, and according to reports, many killed and wounded on both sides.

The reported details of the attempt state that the Japanese fleet steamed up as close to land as was possible and then sent a large force to land. The landing force which was protected by the battleships and cruisers of the fleet were met with a stiff resisting force, and finally compelled to put back to their vessels. Several of these attempts were made but in each case the Russian fire was too heavy and the fleet was at last compelled to abandon the attempt. There is hardly a doubt that the Japanese will try again.

What the Japs hoped to accomplish eventually by this move is easily seen. Just back of Port Arthur, on the Liao-Tung peninsula, is a narrow neck of land on which Dalny is situated. Here it was that the attempts to land were made. Had the efforts proved successful the probabilities are that the Japs would have been able to force the Russian fleet out into the open, and precipitate a fight for which the Japs are most anxious, but which the Russian authorities seem anxious to avert if possible.

With a force at Dalny the Japs could so elevate their guns that the shots would carry high in the air and fall among the closely packed vessels of the Russians in Port Arthur harbor, and thus make it so hot for them from the rear that they would be compelled to save themselves, to make for the open, inasmuch as the Japanese fleet in the Yellow sea outnumbers and is more efficient in every way than the Russian fleet in the harbor, the outcome of a battle in the open sea would hardly be in doubt.

A dispatch from Chifu today states that no further naval attack will be made on the Port Arthur fortification by the Japanese. The latter having accomplished their purpose of disabling the Russian ships, will be satisfied to wait for the enemy to come out. A direct attack on the land fortifications by the ships would be useless and perhaps suicidal, as the forts are among the strongest in the world and have an armament of altogether 30 big guns as well as several batteries of six inch quick firers and four long range, 6 1/2 ton guns. The only way to capture these fortifications would be by land investment. As the first step in this cutting off of the communications between these fortifications and Russia by land, will continue to be the object of the campaign. This has, to a degree been already effected by the blowing up of the bridge of the Manchuria railway leading into Port Arthur.

In this latter feat, it is stated that 50 Russians were killed and many injured. With this accomplished, could the Japanese now effect a landing, at Dalny, their main aim, the investment of Port Arthur would be well under way. Despite the repulse yesterday, it is stated that several Japanese transports are now engaged in a further attempt to land their forces at the point where the bridge was destroyed.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—King Edward today signed the declaration of neutrality in the far East, at a meeting of the privy council.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—A rumor is current on the bourse today that the Japanese have lost eight ships in battle in the Yellow Sea. The rumor is not credited.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A dispatch from Chee Foo this morning states that Russian finances there are in a bad way. The Russian bank has been unable to honor its own notes.

JAPS POURING INTO SEOUL

SEOUL, KOREA, Feb. 11.—The Japanese occupation of Seoul is proceeding rapidly. The Koreans view the arrival of the Japanese soldiers with sullen indifference.

RUSSIAN MAIL STEAMER CAPTURED.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Lord's Shanghai correspondent today wires that Japanese warships have destroyed the Russia mail steamer Mongolia bound for Dalny.

ALEXIEFF IS IN FULL COMMAND.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Central News today wires that Admiral Alexieff, Russian viceroy of the far East, has been placed in supreme command of the Russian land and sea forces. The Tien-Tsin correspondent confirms the report that the Manchurian bridge has been blown up. That an unofficial report has also been received that Russian steamers Nomi and Mukden have been captured by the Japanese fleet.

ADMIRAL URIU

Who Won Fight for Japan at Chemulpo, Received Training in the United States.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 11.—Rear Admiral Uriu, commander of the Japanese fleet that defeated the Russians at Chemulpo, was graduated from the United States Naval academy here in 1881. Uriu entered the naval academy with two other Japanese boys in 1877. After serving there four years he went to the British military school at Greenwich. His wife, who was graduated from Vassar, is a Japanese. Admiral Uriu (pronounced You-ree-no) is a Christian. He is about 43 years old.

Fund for Japan.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 11.—Steps will be begun in Atlanta this afternoon to subscribe $2,000,000 for fund to be devoted to the purchase of a battleship for Japan. Col. Harry Silverman of the governor's staff, suggested the scheme and wants the Jews of America to begin making subscriptions.

JAPS CAPTURE FIVE STEAMERS.

Tokio, Feb. 11.—The Japanese have captured at least five Russian commercial steamers. They were captured by the Japanese in Korean and adjacent waters at various times since Saturday by small cruisers. Some of the steamers are rich prizes.

Anglo-Saxon vs. Slav.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 11.—Rev. E. R. Fulkerson, Vice Consul in Nagasaki, Japan, for 17 years a missionary, has just returned from Japan. He said: "I am positive that Japan will defeat the conservative Russians. Before I left Japan it was accepted by educated Japanese that if they were defeated the United States and Great Britain would have to trounce the Russians, as it was really a war between the Anglo-Saxon and the Slav."

Bulgaria vs Turkey.

Paris, Feb. 11.—La Patrie today publishes a telegram from Bucharest stating that Bulgaria has commenced the mobilization of her forces and that all her officers have been ordered to hasten to their posts. Thirty million cartridges have been ordered from France. War with Turkey is expected in the first days of March.

TROOPS ARE MASSED FOR LAND FIGHT WHICH MAY HAVE ALREADY BEGUN.

Chifu, Feb. 11.—Land fighting along the Yalu river or farther south in Korea is expected hourly and may have already begun.

Although the movements of the Japanese have been shrouded in secrecy and their plans have not been divulged, it is known that they have landed troops from 60 transports in Korea and by this time have 50,000 to 60,000 men of all arms in that country.

Both Russia and Japan claim to have large forces in Chemulpo, but it is certain that any Russian troops in that city will find themselves cut off from support by sea and will be completely surrounded by Japanese forces on land. The Russian cruisers left in port at Chemulpo to support the land forces have been captured by the Japanese and the Russian camp has been left without naval aid.

It is known that the Japanese have been massing troops at Pingyang and these are being marched north to meet the Russians along the Yalu river. Reinforcements are constantly being received by the commander of

JAPAN'S VICTORY

MAKES THE EMPIRE SAFE FROM ATTACK.

In Few Hours Balance of Naval Power in the Far East Has Been Upset.

London, Feb. 11.—Every detail emphasizes the significance of the astounding successes won by Japan apparently without sacrificing a single ship or loss of a single life.

In less than 48 hours the balance of naval power in the far East has been entirely upset.

"Russia," an expert says, "is in the position of a chess player who loses his queen in the first half dozen moves. The naval position of the Russians at Port Arthur is considered absolutely desperate, and it is thought most unlikely that the Vladivostok squadron of four powerful armored cruisers will be able to come to the assistance of the battered fleet at Port Arthur."

"Admiral Stark's position there is likened to that of Admiral Cervera at Santiago de Cuba. He is described as being 'between the horns of a damnable dilemma.' He must either submit to be contained under the guns of Port Arthur in a posture intensely humiliating to Russian pride and prestige, or he must come out and fight in a condition of inferiority which would render defeat almost a foregone conclusion."

Whatever now happens the Japanese Empire is thought safe from attack. It is, however, recognized that the war is by no means over. Russia's position is compared to that of Great Britain after the initial reverses of the Boer war.

CONDENSED

WAR BULLETINS FROM THE FAR EAST.

Mikado's Troops Near Seoul—Russia is Hurrying Troops Over the Siberian Railway.

The London Daily Mail today reports the cabinet of two more Russian steamers by the Japs.

Russia's Vladivostok squadron of four large cruisers and a transport is reported to have cleared for action.

The Mikado's troops are now within sight of Seoul, capital of Korea. Others have landed at Masampo.

Anxiety is felt by Russians for the safety of the troop and war ships now in the Indian ocean.

Japan will fortify Masampo and establish a naval and military base there.

The Russians, as a whole, have taken the naval reverses in good part and are hurrying troops forward. The use of the trans-Siberian railroad is restricted solely for government business.

Viceroy Alexieff has begun the mobilization of the army reserves in Eastern Asia.

U. S. Ambassador McCormick, at St. Petersburg, is busy taking over the affairs of the Japanese legation. M. Kurins, Japanese minister, left St. Petersburg Wednesday night.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jews propose raising a fund to aid the Japanese troops.

Dr. Washington Gladden, of Columbus, says Japan's success will be a boon to civilization.

The Red Cross committee at Washington, has issued a call for donations to be sent to the far East.

A Chifu dispatch says that a high Japanese commander traveling as a merchant accompanied the Chifu Japanese consul to Port Arthur before the first naval fight and noted the exact position of Russian ships, also that they had not got steam up and were not keeping a sharp lookout. As soon as the Japanese fleet was sighted signals were interchanged and the Japanese naval officer was taken aboard the flagship. There he made a detailed report of observation to Admiral Tozo.

In the damage done to the Russians at Port Arthur Tuesday by the Japanese fleet under Vice Admiral Tozo, seven warships belonging to the Russians were put out of action. The Pallada lies on her beam ends on the beach badly damaged by a well-directed blow of a torpedo. The battleships Retzivan and Tsarevitch were damaged below the water line, but their close proximity to the shore enabled them to escape complete destruction. In the second fight Tuesday the battleships Pallava and cruisers Novik, Askold and Dvora were seriously damaged.

Admiral Wu of the Japanese fleet, scored a notable success off Chemulpo harbor having successfully engaged and put out of action two Russian warships. The Variag and Korietz, cruiser and gunboat are reported to be a total loss.

Japan's naval victory probably makes the Japanese empire safe from attack.

The Berlin Press is very bitter in its comment on the action of the United States which is accused of secretly backing up Japan. It is pointed out that at first America asked only for an "open door," and then extended this to demanding guarantees of the integrity of China. Now it is declared Mr. Hay intends proposing that the Powers should take measures to limit the area of hostilities.

ANOTHER BATTLESHIP WAS DAMAGED.

Chifu, Feb. 11.—Word reached here today that the Russian battleship Porosviet not mentioned previously, was also damaged in the fight outside Port Arthur, on Tuesday.

MONGOLIANS

Are Organizing for an Uprising in Manchuria.

Boxer Prince Tuan is Planning an Attack on the Russians

Declares Shanghai Correspondent of Paris Paper-- Japanese Emissaries Are Preparing the Mongolians for the Uprising Against Russians in the Far East.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Rappel today has a telegram from its Shanghai correspondent stating that Japanese emissaries are organizing the Mongolians for an uprising in Manchuria. With the complicity of Chinese agents they have smuggled into Manchuria 20,000 rifles and 5,000,000 cartridges. It is reported that Prince Tuan of Boxer fame will be the leader, and that he plans an attack on the Russians at the Yalu river.

CHINESE FORCES IN PECHILI.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11.—The Chinese forces in Pechili have been augmented to 30,000. They are moving along a line extending from Kalgan to Shan-Hai-Kwan, and are therefore massed on the extreme boundary of China proper, just at the Great Wall. They are ready to defend Pechili against any aggressive movement by the Russians in Manchuria. The Russian warship Mandjur, which has been here a week, sailed last night after hoisting her war flags. Shanghai is filled with refugees from Port Arthur and Newchang.

CHINESE EMPRESS IS EXCITED.

PEKING, Feb. 11.—The Dowager Empress is widely excited over the state of affairs which has been reported to her from Port Arthur. She has sent for nearly every notable Mandarin in the capital and has given endless orders for the massing of troops toward Manchuria. The Russian defeat has largely diminished the Czar's prestige here.

THE JAPANESE ARE REJOICING.

TOKIO, Feb. 11.—Rear Admiral Uriu who commanded the Japanese fleet, which on Tuesday defeated two Russian cruisers in the battle off Chemulpo, reports that the crews of both the Russian Variag and Korietz have surrendered. The reports of the Russian defeats are posted here today. The people are jubilant over the successes attending Japanese arms.

MINISTER ALLEN'S REPORT

Of the Engagement off Chemulpo in Which Japanese Were Victors--Japs are Landing Troops for Seoul, Korea.

Washington, Feb. 11.—A dispatch received today at the state department from Minister Allen at Seoul, Korea, gives some of the details of the engagement off Chemulpo as follows:

"A running naval engagement took place in Chemulpo harbor, beginning about noon. The Variag and Korietz had attempted to escape but failed. The Variag was injured. On their return the Japanese naval vessels announced officially that an attack would take place at 4 p. m. At that hour the Korietz blew up and sank. She was a slow vessel which made it difficult for her to escape. The Japanese naval vessels attacked the Variag from outside of the harbor until she sank."

A previous dispatch from Minister Allen stated that 22 Japanese vessels had arrived at Chemulpo on the afternoon of the ninth and that 2,500 Japanese troops were landed for Seoul. The Variag and Korietz attempted to prevent the landing without success. Foreign naval vessels were leaving the harbor. A report has been received at Seoul, the dispatch concludes, that Japanese vessels captured Russian transports off Moko on the ninth.

Washington—The cross-examination of A. W. Machen was continued today.

Washington—Great Britain and Germany were present to help them celebrate the event. They are both old residents of this county.

LOOTED

Orleans (Indiana) Postoffice Guttled by Burglars Who Cracked Safe and Took All in Sight.

Orleans, Ind., Feb. 11.—The postoffice at this place was entered yesterday by burglars and robbed of everything of value. The safe was blown open and completely wrecked, pieces of it being blown through two walls and into a store adjoining. The furniture directly in front of the safe was badly damaged.

The burglars secured about $225 in money and $165 in stamps. Not a penny or a postage stamp was left for the office to do business with. Two registered packages were not taken: One of these contained a check for $40 and was thrown on the floor, where it was found. The other one contained a parcel of jewelry, and this, too, was fouled in the debris.

The burglars effected an entrance by breaking out the glass in the front door, where the lock was easily turned. Besides the money and stamps stolen the damage to the office fixtures was about $200. The furniture was nearly new and was of modern style. The explosion was heard by a number of people, but not one thought of burglars. Bloodhounds were brought here from New Albany at 9:42 and put on the trail. They followed the trail to Mitchell, five miles north, where it is thought the offender boarded a train. Postmaster Kimball has wired the police in towns and cities around to look for the robbers.

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE NAVAL WARFARE.

The Jays are entitled to the credit of testing the efficacy of a torpedo boat in a conflict with a battleship. Some of the best of the Russian battleships and armored cruisers were quickly put out of business in the first naval engagement by torpedoes from Japanese boats. The skill and daring of the Mikado's sailors in making this manner of successful assault upon the Russian fleet are creating much comment on the part of naval experts. It is a sort of eye opener that a hundred thousand dollar torpedo boat can play such havoc with a ten million dollar battleship, and the Japanese success may create a revolution in naval warfare and equipment.

"What all does Cox want?" is the question heard on all sides in legislative circles at Columbus. It is a confession that the Boss is getting all he wants, and if there are any Republican objectors they are powerless to prevent his demands and can only howl in protest.

The feature of the Ohio horse proceedings Tuesday was an hour's debate over a dog law. Legislator after legislator addressed the house with mingled sarcasm, pathos and mere talk. The bill in question provides for the killing of all dogs, the owners of which do not pay a tax of $1 a year.

The house school committee has decided to start public hearings upon the school code question. If necessary to accommodate delegations these hearings will be continued into the evenings. The hearing will conclude Feb. 24, and following that date the committee will go into executive session and determine the form in which the question of school legislation is to be sent back to the house.

FOREIGN FACTS.

London billboards are covered with American posters.

London is about to follow the example of some German cities and use bloodhounds as an aid to the police.

Hildesheim (Hanover) town council has decided to preserve the ancient appearance of its streets by ordering that all new private buildings must be in the seventeenth century German style.

When Chinese workmen apply for jobs to the Russians in Manchuria they are informed that heathens cannot be engaged and that they must first become Christians. This makes them desist invariably.

The herring fleet in Holland has increased from 610 boats in 1900 to 780 at present. The companies pay dividends ranging from 9 to 13 per cent. About 90 per cent of the fish caught are sent to foreign markets.

Six hundred thousand acres of India's best land, says a circular issued by the Christian union against the opium traffic, are used by the government for the cultivation of opium, the great bulk of which goes to China.

The use of automatic slot machines has greatly increased in Germany, especially for the distribution of candies, pictorial postal cards, the sale of railway tickets, for the operation of musical apparatus, telephonic communication, cinematographs, etc.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Threading of ribbon is very popular and is used now on skirts as well as blouses.

Silk linings as a rule match the dress, though in some cases they match the trimming.

In modish trimmings many narrow bands are used, giving the effect of clusters of tucks, and make a fine finish for skirts.

The lines of the correct fashionable bodice are perfectly flat from the belt upward, with long lines running downward in trimming effects.

Deep full ruffles of lace are still fashionable on the large sleeves of the moment, but for some reason among the more exclusive chignon ruffles are being used more and more.

Some of the smartest walking skirts seen are now made in very finely kilted, extremely dark plaid fabrics, with plain cloth cutaway coats strapped with kid of the same color.

Entire muffs of chiffon, finished at the ends with ruffles of the same and banded two or three times round with narrow strips of fur, are among the novelties of elegant dress.

HORSES AND HORSEMEN.

Casplan, 2:07 1/4, is reported wintering grandly in Bert Shank's care.

Daniel, 2:00 1/4, the pacing queen, is on the snow path in Rochester, N. Y.

It begins to look as if Buffalo will stay in the grand circuit after all.

Lily Young, 2:09 1/4, will race only at the matinees next season, if at all.

The Abbot, 2:03 1/4, ex-champion trotter, will be a matinee performer only in 1904.

Tom Price is going to try Neva Simmons, 2:11 1/4, again—probably for the last time.

Several flattering offers have lately been refused by Stanley Dillon, Geers' much touted green trotter.

Ed Bither will manage the new stables built by the Boston Driving club on the Charles River speedway.

Roamer, 2:05 1/4, who did no good for Alta McDonald, is back in the stable of Jimmy Stahl, who gave him his record.

Gaiety Girl, 2:15 1/4, by Red Wilkes, who has no dam in the Year Book, is reported to be out of Maggie H., dam of five other 2:30 trotters, by Homer.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Rudyard Kipling says that he is here after going to be his own dramatist. He thinks that it is as easy to write plays as it is to write stories.

Arthur Collins, the London producer of Drury Lane pantomimes, says that the cost of mounting one of these entertainments is now nearly $100,000.

A stepson of A. W. Pinero, the dramatist, is about to make his debut in authorship. He has written a book on Korea, having spent a year in that country.

Public interest in the acting of Henry Irving shows no sign of abatement. The great actor has been received with enthusiastic welcome in every city that he has thus far visited.

Daniel Sully has suffered for the want of a good play ever since he discarded "The Parish Priest." Recently he put on a society play called "The Chief Justice," but it is not a success.

"La Sorciere" ("The Sorceress"), the drama in five acts produced at the Theater Sarah Bernhardt, Paris, shows that Sardou has lost none of his fertile imagination and true intuition of stage effect.

PITH AND POINT.

Some things that are easily swallowed are hard to digest.

You can lead a man to college, but you cannot make him think.

The blinding does not make the book nor the office the statesman.

There is something almost melancholy about your highly intellectual person.

ROYAL BEGINNINGS

At the Republic's Capital and Ideal as Attained By Louis XVI.

(New York American.)

President Roosevelt is fond of pomp and ceremony, and his efforts to banish democratic simplicity from official life in Washington—troops of cavalry to greet arriving and speed departing war secretaries, the maximum of gold lace and formalities at the White House receptions, the Foraker bill for a summer palace, and the like—cause national remark and concern.

The complete royal state which Mr. Roosevelt, with his love of military show and civic glitter, obviously longs for will come in time to surround the American President if the people permit the tendencies set in motion by the present occupant of the White House to go unchecked.

It is well to recall the real thing while tentative attempts at imitation are being made. Everything has to have a beginning.

Louis XVI., before the Revolution wiped out royalty in France, had 4,000 persons in his civil household, 9,000 to 10,000 in his military household, and about 2,000 for the rest of the royal family—in all about 15,000 individuals, at a nexpense of some $20,000,000 a year.

Mr. Roosevelt's ideal is described for us by Taine in his "Ancient Regime." When Louis XVI. issued from Versailles to go to Paris or Fontainebleau the spectacle was magnificent. Four trumpeters in front and four behind. The Swiss guards on one side and the French guards on the other formed a line as far as it could reach. The Cossacks marched ahead of the horsemen in the costume of the sixteenth century, wearing the halberd, rum-plumed hat and parti-colored striped doublet. Alongside of these were the Provost guard, with scarlet facings and gold frogs, and companies of yeomanry bristling with gold and silver. The officers of the various corps, the trumpeters and musicians, covered with gold and silver lace, were dazzling to look at: the kettle drum suspended at the saddle bow, overcharged with painted and gilded ornaments, was a curiosity for a glass case; the negro cymbal player of the French guards resembled the Sultan of a fairy tale. Behind the carriage and alongside of it trotted the bodyguards, with sword and carbine, wearing red breeches, high black boots and a blue coat sewn with white embroidery, all of them unquestionable gentlemen. There were 1,200 of these selected among the nobles and according to size.

Jefferson, as our Minister to France, saw all this and more. He saw a nation of 26,000,000 people drained of its resources and the masses reduced to starvation in order that the King and 2,000 or 3,000 titled persons around him might live in gorgeous luxury and splendid show.

So when Jefferson became President of the United States he set an example of democratic plainness, and would have no pomp about him, for he hated pomp because he hated monarchy, and had the elevation of mind needed to understand the superior dignity of republican simplicity over royal display. He held that the American people should not be made familiar with the usages of a kingly court at Washington, lest the way be prepared for the introduction of the substance of monarchy. The President, he believed, should be regarded by the citizens of the republic as one of themselves, engaged temporarily in their service, and not as a ruler placed over them. For the theatrical adjuncts of royalty, intended to minister to vanity and inspire slavish awe and reverence in the humble, he felt the hearty contempt of a democrat.

President Roosevelt differs from President Jefferson in a good many important ways.

How a Young Woman of His Parish Was Cured of Consumption by Father John's Medicine.

Writing from La Fargeville, N. Y., Rev. Fr. Joseph Pontur of St. John's parish, said: "One of my parishioners, almost despondent of ever getting cured, given up by the doctors as a consumptive, upon my firm advice is using Father John's Medicine and since has been constantly improving, to the great joy of her parents and friends."

Four months later, Rev. Fr. Pontur writes: "The young woman referred to in my previous letter, who was given up by all the doctors as a consumptive, continues to improve wonderfully by using Father John's Medicine."

Two Tragedies.

George Clinton, the lawyer, rode downtown the other morning with W. S. Jackson of the district attorney's staff and B. B. Daggett, who is with the Consolidated Telephone company. Mr. Daggett sat in the middle. The car was full. To keep up the conversation the three sometimes had to raise their voices. So it happened that, though the three afterward pledged secrecy, the story is out.

"That was a terrible crime that young fellow committed the other day," Mr. Jackson said. Mr. Clinton, leaning past Mr. Daggett, "And to think that the victim was his own father!"

"About the most depraved wretch I ever heard of," called back Mr. Jackson. On every face roundabout was a big question. Mr. Daggett looked from one side to the other. "What happened?" he asked in startled tones.

"Why, a young fellow took his father apart to tell him something and couldn't get him together again," was the shouted reply.

It is said Superintendent Bull afterward heard the story too.—Buffalo Express.

A Showdown.

Three young men attired in faultless manner, escorting two charming and well dressed young ladies, boarded a Main street car the other evening, evidently bound for the theater. The young fellows were full of life and could not contain themselves with the degree of complacency with which their fair companions carried themselves. One of the gallants, who was apparently doing the honors of the occasion, produced five tickets as the conductor approached and, arranging them like a hand at cards, remarked "A full hand."

"Yes," replied the knight of the bell rope. "Three jacks and a pair of queens."—Columbus Dispatch.

LEGISLATION

BILL FOR AN INHERITANCE TAX TO BE INTRODUCED.

Marriage License Bill by Senator Houck—Maple Syrup Measure—A Few New Bills Proposed.

Columbus, O., Feb. 11.—What will become one of the most important measures to be considered by the present legislature, is the bill that will probably be introduced placing a tax on inheritances from blood ancestors. While the bill has not yet been drafted it is known that Representative D. W. Crist of Columbiana, will stand sponsor for it, and it will have the support of Governor Herrick and his administration. The constitutional difficulty will be provided against by making the tax uniform and without exemptions. This was the rock on which was wrecked a former law, exempting estates under $20,000 from taxation, and graduated the rate. The courts decided this to be unconstitutional. Ohio has now a collateral inheritance tax which only produced $39,000 last year.

The crying need for larger expenditures for state institutions and the reduction of the state tax levy presents a problem of raising more funds in some manner. The excise and other taxes will not be raised by the legislature so other subjects of taxation must be found. The rate of tax on inheritances will not be less than 1 per cent.

The Democrats will refuse to concur on the ward local option bill, as requested by the brewery representatives, and will not vote solidly for or against the proposed repeal of the Beal law.

Senator L. B. Houck of Knox introduced a bill providing that no marriage license shall be issued except in the county of which the female has been a resident for at least 60 days, and then only upon the appearance of both contracting parties in the probate court.

No license shall be granted where either of the parties is an imbecile, insane, or an habitual drunkard, or who at the time of making application therefor is under the influence of intoxicating liquors or narcotic drugs.

Another bill by Senator Heinlein of Belmont, makes common law marriages after July 1, 1904, null and void. It does not affect marriages of this kind, now recognized.

A joint resolution asking congress to increase the pay of rural mail carriers, was passed.

Bills were introduced in the Senate as follows:

To appropriate $25,000 for live stock exhibit at St. Louis.

To fix standard of a gallon of maple sugar at 231 cubic inches and providing a fine of $50 to $100 for adulteration of maple syrup.

A WOMAN FARMER.

She Has Cultivated Her Acres at Vineland Forty Years.

He would be called a crank in our time, the large bearded, great hearted man, Charles K. Landis, founder of Vineland, N. J. Probably he and his pioneers in forming a model town were called cranks in 1861, but at any rate their queer notions resulted in the up-building of the most beautiful and industrially productive town in this country. Mr. Landis bought a tract of forty-eight miles square and divided it into farm plots of from five to twenty-five acres. He let it be known that he would sell these plots to intelligent, moral people who wanted homes combining rural and urban advantages. He desired to draw to his model home town persons of clean lives who had ideals they desired to work out in peace and freedom, rendering account through honest labor for all they received.

Mr. Landis was fortunate in bringing to Vineland individuals of ideals like himself. Men and women, strong, noble souled, who saw through the humbug of common life and desired to escape it, came to him. Petty, pitiful, conforming common life held no resting place for them. It ridiculed them, persecuted them even. They gathered themselves together and fled to Vineland, the place of refuge for persons who thought for themselves.

In nearly every case those who loved freedom found there was something, there was much, in their ideals. The ideal of combined city-country existence wrought itself into manifestation in Vineland. Today it is a forty-eight mile square tract of blooming, fruitful orchard and garden, and in the whole farm city no intoxicating liquors are or ever have been sold.

Among the pioneer women of beautiful Vineland was Miss Susan Fowler. She was not strong in health, and the world of petty conventionality forced upon her much that she would fain be rid of. One of the things was long, heavy skirts. She yearned for the free use of her lower limbs, the lightness and freedom that release from petticoats girds. Miss Fowler sped to Vineland and clad herself in bloomers. None said her nay, none even ridiculed her. Were they not all in one way or another prisoned souls, searching for freedom? A crank may not ridicule another crank, may he?

Miss Fowler took a fruit and vegetable farm and began the productive tilling of it. She wore her knickers in peace and comfort, and does so still, and raised great quantities of Vineland's famous product—sweet potatoes. She planted a peach and apple orchard and in due time ate the fruit thereof and also marketed much of it. She did and does to this day with her own hands all the work, light and heavy, upon that patch of ground, and in the doing of it health, nature's royalist gift to living creatures, came back to her. In the eyes of the woman whose skirt is a street sweeper Miss Fowler's bloomers are not pretty. But beauty of attire is a matter of taste, and that dress is handsomest which is best adapted to the wearer's use. In her convenient bloomers Miss Fowler, forty years ago, became very handy at trimming fruit trees, digging potatoes, loading her fruits and vegetables in a wagon, mounting its seat and driving to market, independent as a boy.

Yet has the Vineland woman farmer not spent all her time in the grinding toil supposed to be the working agriculturist's lot. Vineland soil is fertile, and Miss Fowler has farmed it intelligently. She has had especial objection to having "a man around" even to work for her. It is said the one anxiety of her life, now at the age of eighty, is that she will decline physically so as to be unable to do all the farm work herself, and at the close of her long and independent career at last be obliged to "leave a man around." If this would distress her let us hope she will be spared it.

Generous crops have rewarded Miss Fowler's up to date farming, and she has found time to read and think, also to write. She has published several books. Through the more than forty years of her long life Miss Fowler has been very good company for herself. Removed from the poultry like cackling and clucking of a world she left nearly half a century ago, Susan Fowler has experienced, like Swedenborg and the poets, the noble joy of thinking out the world problems undisturbed. She is naturally deeply interested in world problems. She says it is her mission to "show thought seeds." Nature, too, she feels that "the world thinks too much of dress and too little of the real life."

PEACE ON EARTH.

A Quick Cure For Worry, and It Is Something Other Than "Don't."

The conviction of the present writer, after a prolonged consideration of the subject, is that worry is a lung disease and is caused by lack of oxygen. I have yet to meet the man or woman who could breathe deeply and worry at the same moment. Do not take my word for this. Test it for yourself. When the preserves are burning or the just filled clothesline falls in the mud or the baby eats up a box of pills under the impression that they are candy, what is the first thing that you do? Fly to the scene of disaster? No; that is the second thing. The very first thing that you do is to hold your breath, and it is safe to say that for several hours after the annoying circumstance has occurred you breathe just as little as possible.

When "things go wrong" for an entire day, you take in about enough oxygen for a medium sized canary. When you insist that you do breathe, else you wouldn't be alive, I can only reply that there are different degrees of "aliveness," and the chronic worrier is not at the head of the class.

Every one has heard the saying, "The coward has a narrow chest." Whether we consider fear to be the cause or result of a contemptible amount of breathing capacity, it is certain that these particular moral and physical defects—these two birds of a feather—are frequently found in company. Fear is the essence of worry.

It is difficult to benefit the body without helping "the body's guest" or to cultivate the mind without improving its clayey tabernacle. Regard worry as a physical infirmity, and it can be successfully treated by plain eating and outdoor living, aided by special exercises for the cultivation of the chest. Consider it as purely a mental or moral defect, and it may be cured, not by preaching or exhortation nor by the reading of little books which point out that we are living in a vale of tears, but by the rational cultivation of one or more of the mental faculties.—Ethelwyn Welheral in Good Housekeeping.

Useful Wrinkles.

Good Housekeeping correspondents furnish these practical items: A wrinkle I learned from a girl who works in a large upholstery house is that the best sofa pillows are covered with "waxed" cotton. This is done by ironing the inside of the cotton cover with a hot flatiron rubbed on a cloth well saturated with beeswax. When treated in this way it is impossible for small elusive downs to work through.

After a long illness my hair became so dreadfully matted that we were afraid it would have to be cut, but our old family doctor came to the rescue, telling us to saturate the tangled locks with alcohol. This done, they cleared as if by magic.

Turning the hem of a petticoat on the right side, I find, does away with the catching of heels therein, thus tearing loose several inches of the hem. This may take a little longer at the time of making, as the seams at the bottom of the skirt have to be turned, but it will pay in the end.

When making raffia baskets, I pad with the straws out of matting, which does just as well, as the raffia is easier and much more economical.

An Unwritten Law.

There is an unwritten law which makes it bad taste to overdress in the forenoon on the street. There is also an unwritten law about carriage dress and street dress. If functions in the forenoon require full dress, then those who assist should go to them in carriages. Where there is no fixed dress obligation the gathering is marked by those who are wearing street suits and those who have chosen to wear carriage dress, but it does not always follow that those dressed for carriage protection and privacy have driven to their destination. Those who adhere to street dress for the street and carriage dress when they are driving are the exponents of good taste, good form and wide experience in the proprieties and fitness of living under correct social conventions.—Vogue.

REGENERATION

WAS THE THEME DISCUSSED BY DR. WATERMAN

At Plymouth Congregational Church—An Outline of the Discourse—Services Tonight.

"Regeneration" was the subject of the discourse preached at the Plymouth Congregational church last evening by the Rev. Dr. Waterman of Chicago.

He took for his text Christ's reply to Nicodemus: Ye must be born again. Ye must be born of water and the spirit or ye cannot enter the kingdom of heaven.

Nicodemus was a typical type of many today. He was in many respects a model man. He was a fine scholar, strictly moral, was a church member, and was a close observer of all the externals relating to religion and with all this he fell short of Christ's requirements, when he informed him that he must be born again. He was laboring under an entire misapprehension of what it was to be a genuine Christian, or a true follower of Christ. How true this is of many nominal Christians today. They observe all the externals pertaining to religion but lose the substance. As a result of this our churches of today are composed largely of what might be called nominal Christians. They mistake forms for religion. Christ distinctly said: Ye must be born again spiritually. Those outside the pale of the visible church see the hollowiness and utter inconsistencies of those who profess to be the followers of Christ, and make light of them, saying that often all religion is a sham, and the majority of church goers are hypocrites.

While there is much truth in this assertion on the part of worldlings it must be admitted that there are many genuine Christians in the world who have been thoroughly regenerated by the Holy Spirit. The genuine can most generally be detected from the counterfeit. He illustrated his subject by quoting very many cases where persons had been regenerated by the Holy Spirit and had become new creatures in Christ. While regeneration is to a very large degree a mystery and just how God acts upon the hearts of men, by his regenerating spirit we do not know, but we do know from its effects upon the lives of many who have been changed from a life of worldliness and sin to lives of piety.

Would we receive this regenerating power from on high we must act, open our hearts to receive it in a penitent manner, and God will do the balance. We must not sit supinely and say we can do nothing, but we should return to God and ask Him to enter our hearts and take possession of them. If we will do this our calling and election will be sure, and we will not then be puzzled any longer as to the mystery of the new birth. "Beloved, a stand at the door and knock. If any man open I will come in, and sup with him and he with me."

Will we then act as rational and intelligent beings and thus secure for ourselves a crown of immortality? C. R. K.

Now the remarkable instinct of the hen had led her where she thought she would be protected, and in course of time would hatch a nice little brood of chickens, which no doubt would have been dedicated to the lodge, but alas, for all her fond expectations, some person saw those eggs and the temptation was too great. In a moment the nest was rubbed, and the eggs gone to fill a long felt want of the inner man. BIRTHDAY

Of Judge W. H. West, Ohio's "Blind Man Eloquent," Fittingly Celebrated at Bellefontaine

Bellefontaine, O., Feb. 11—Judge William H. West, Ohio's "Blind Man Eloquent," Tuesday celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary. The members of the Logan county bar called upon him during a reception held in the afternoon. Judge West during Blaine's halcyon days was active in state and national politics.

He was twice representative, twice served as state senator, then supreme judge, member of constitutional convention, delegate to the national Republican convention, twice served as attorney general, was appointed consul to Rio Janeiro and was once Republican nominee for governor of Ohio.

In the national convention of 1884 he presented the name of Blaine. Judge West was one of the recipients of messages of congratulation from every part of the country upon the day his 80th milestone was reached. He is at present living quietly here with his son, Attorney John E. West, and is in feeble health.

A few days ago, the inhabitants, numbering 112, believing that the city government has been disregarding them in the matter of improvements, held an indignation meeting, elected a mayor and a marshal, and announced that they no longer considered themselves as residents of Akron. When informed that the move was illegal and would not hold, Mayor Thomas Sherbondy merely laughs. "We're out, and we're going to get along by ourselves," he says.

Zanesville, Feb. 11—The Eagle screams and Zanesville lies at her feet. To a stranger in the city the vast crowds of Eagles here to attend the initiation of a class of nearly one hundred candidates into the localerie could but help attract attention.

From every quarter of the state came large delegations. Newark led with a delegation of 15 and brought with it the Newark Buckeye Band with 27 pieces. Other delegations from Columbus, Cambridge, Marietta, Corning, Shawnee, Kelsonville and Portsmouth and from the states of Michigan, New York, West Virginia, Indiana, and Illinois, brought the total number of visitors up to 400.

The exercises commenced early in the afternoon when the local team, composed of 15 members, began the work of installation of the class of 87. The whole afternoon was consumed, and after lunch hour the work was taken up anew. After this large class had been shown into the mystic temple of the order, the social session of the evening was commenced. All

TUBE WORKS

Of Zanesville Was Not Sold Wednesday on Account of Defective Description of Property.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 11—A defective description of the real estate to be sold with the plant of the Eastern Tube company, which was to have been transferred to the highest bidder by Master Commissioner Walter Zinn of Columbus Wednesday morning, caused a postponement of the sale.

According to the opinion rendered by Judge Thompson of the United States district court the property will have to be re-advertised for five weeks. The leaving out of four lots in the description caused the calling off of the sale.

Among prospective purchasers was ex-Governor Wm. A. Stone of Pennsylvania, who represented the Federal National bank, possessor of $25,000 in tube works bonds, and which recently closed its doors as the result of that concerns failure. Stone tried to effect a consolidation of Eastern bondholders for the purchase of the plant.

Seven bidders were on the grounds, and it is understood that one was ready to start the bidding at $108,000, two-thirds of the appraisal.

POISONING

Did Not Cause the Death of Several Marion People, as Was at First Supposed.

Marion, O., Feb. 11—Intestinal grip is the new name which the physicians at Richwood call the disease raging in that vicinity, causing the death of Geo. Osborne, his mother, Mrs. Thomas U. Osborne, and the critical illness of his sister and brother. The physicians now no longer believe that Osborne's death was due to ptomaine poisoning or typhoid fever, but say that intestinal grip undoubtedly caused his death, as well as that of his mother.

Granville, O., Feb. 11—What might have resulted in a disastrous fire on Wednesday, was only averted by its timely discovery. Parties were engaged in burning waste paper in the rear of DeBow's marble works, and had left the fire for a few moments. During their absence the wind scattered the burning paper and set fire to some rubbish near one of the buildings. Fortunately, the fire was discovered and extinguished.

The last regular meeting of the Travelers' Club took the members to Venice, and new beauties of this place, and new phases of the life there were depicted very artistically and beautifully in the various papers read during the afternoon. Mrs. Leonard opened the meeting with a paper entitled, "The Mother of Republics," which was exceedingly interesting and thoroughly enjoyed. Fields' "In a Gondola on the Grand Canal" was very artistic in conception, and was well presented. The last number on the program was a paper, "The Aldines," by Mrs. Case, in her usually charming manner, and was especially well received and enjoyed by all.

The Adytum pictures were taken on Tuesday and Wednesday by Mr. Russell of Newark, and it is expected that the work will be very successful and satisfactory.
